

Debate Event Report: Uniform Civil Code

On 1st September 2023, the Faculty of Law at Baba Mastnath University organized a debate on the topic "Uniform Civil Code." This event, held at the department level, was a significant initiative aimed at fostering intellectual dialogue and critical thinking among students of law. The debate provided a platform for participants to explore the legal, social, and constitutional dimensions of the Uniform Civil Code, a subject that holds immense relevance in contemporary legal and societal discourse. Graced by the presence of Sh. Karan Singh Narang, Vice President of the District Bar Association, Rohtak, the event brought together faculty members and students to engage in thought-provoking discussions.

The one-day event was convened by Dr. Parmila, Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Law. The program commenced with a welcome address by Dr. Parmila, who emphasized the importance of open debates in shaping future legal professionals. Sh. Karan Singh Narang, the guest speaker, delivered an enlightening speech on the historical context, current debates, and potential impact of implementing the Uniform Civil Code in India. Highlighting the legal nuances and societal implications, his address set the tone for the debate.

Twelve participants from the department enthusiastically debated the pros and cons of adopting a Uniform Civil Code, presenting arguments that reflected both depth of research and critical thinking. The interactive session allowed participants to engage with complex legal questions and societal challenges, fostering an environment of mutual respect and intellectual growth. The event concluded with the distribution of certificates to participants and a vote of thanks delivered by Dr. Parmila.

The debate on the Uniform Civil Code held profound significance in the context of societal progress and legal uniformity. The event provided a platform to deliberate on a crucial issue that affects the core principles of justice, equality, and secularism in India. By addressing the need for a Uniform Civil Code, the debate underscored its potential to unify diverse personal laws under a single framework, promoting equality and non-discrimination among citizens regardless of religion, caste, or gender.

This initiative aligns directly with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly SDG 5 (Gender Equality) and SDG 16 (Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions). The event emphasized the importance of legal reform in ensuring gender justice and fostering a more inclusive and equitable society. It also contributed to raising awareness among future legal professionals about their role in driving societal change through informed debates and policy advocacy.

The event witnessed the active participation of 12 students, who showcased exceptional analytical and oratory skills. The presence of an esteemed guest speaker, Sh. Karan Singh Narang, added depth and perspective to the discussions. The debate inspired participants to think critically about the complexities of implementing a Uniform Civil Code while appreciating its potential to uphold constitutional values.

The event not only enhanced the participants' knowledge of the topic but also cultivated their ability to engage in constructive dialogue and reasoned argumentation. By fostering a culture of informed debate, the Faculty of Law reaffirmed its commitment to nurturing socially responsible and legally aware professionals.

The debate on the Uniform Civil Code at Baba Mastnath University was a meaningful initiative that highlighted the role of legal discourse in shaping societal progress. By encouraging critical thinking and dialogue on a topic of national importance, the event contributed to the academic and personal growth of participants. Furthermore, it aligned with global efforts to promote equality and justice, reflecting the university's dedication to advancing the principles enshrined in the Sustainable Development Goals.
