

Extempore Competition on 12th January 2024

On 12th January 2024, the Faculty of Law organized an engaging Extempore Competition at the departmental level. The event was convened by Dr. Ritu, with Dr. Parmila serving as the co-convenor. With an impressive participation of 69 students, the competition served as a platform to enhance critical thinking, public speaking, and confidence-building among students. Participants showcased their ability to articulate thoughts spontaneously on various socially relevant topics, creating an atmosphere of intellectual rigor and enthusiasm.

The competition began with an inaugural address by Dr. Ritu, emphasizing the significance of extempore speaking as an essential skill for law students, aiding them in articulating arguments with clarity and conviction. The topics ranged from legal and social issues to current affairs, challenging participants to think on their feet and present logical, coherent perspectives.

The well-organized event featured multiple rounds, with each participant given a limited amount of time to prepare and deliver their speech. The topics encouraged reflection on issues like social justice, environmental sustainability, and equality, fostering awareness and critical engagement. The event was moderated seamlessly by the co-convenor, Dr. Parmila, ensuring a fair and interactive competition.

The Extempore Competition holds immense importance in today's society, especially for aspiring lawyers and policymakers. By encouraging students to voice their opinions on critical issues, the event contributes to nurturing socially responsible and articulate individuals. The competition's emphasis on topics of social, legal, and environmental relevance aligns with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly SDG 4 (Quality Education), SDG 10 (Reduced Inequalities), and SDG 16 (Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions). Events like these inspire participants to think critically about their roles as change-makers in society, fostering a culture of dialogue, inclusivity, and informed decision-making.

With 69 participants, the competition demonstrated high levels of enthusiasm and engagement from students. The interactive nature of the event provided an excellent opportunity for participants to hone their communication and analytical skills. Moreover, the diverse range of topics helped students broaden their perspectives on pressing global and national challenges. The event succeeded in inspiring participants to take an active interest in societal issues and underscored the importance of effective communication in bringing about positive change.

The Extempore Competition organized by the Faculty of Law on 12th January 2024 was a resounding success, fostering intellectual growth and public speaking prowess among participants. The event not only highlighted the role of effective communication in advocacy and leadership but also encouraged students to reflect on their responsibilities as future professionals. By promoting critical thinking and active engagement with societal issues, the competition reaffirmed the Faculty of Law's commitment to nurturing well-rounded, socially conscious individuals who contribute to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals.
